Class Prediction Error for LinearSVC

The graph shows the number of predicted classes for the actual classes 'vacant' and 'occupied'. The x-axis represents the actual class, and the y-axis shows the number of predicted classes. The data indicates a significant prediction error for 'vacant' class compared to 'occupied' class.